

10 April, Barcelona

the landscape as a common good

The idea of the common asset reappears today with more strength than ever and its reappearance cannot be separated from the increasingly widespread desire to try out new forms of governing places or from the ever growing vindication for a new culture of the territory. The Landscape Observatory of Catalonia, always aware of current matters of great social relevance, aims to contribute to the debate through this seminar, by reflecting on one of the most evident common assets and, at the same time, one that often goes unnoticed: the landscape. What does considering the landscape as a common asset really involve? We will debate this on 10 April 2015 at the Ateneu Popular 9 Barris in Barcelona, a social and cultural centre with community management in a district of Barcelona that understands cultural and artistic action to be authentic tools for social and territorial transformation.

Inscription: The seminar is free, but the registration is compulsory because seating is limited. To register, please fill the registration form you can find in our website (www.catpaisatge.net)

Languages: Presentations will be given in the language stated in this program. No simultaneous interpreting services will be provided.

How to arrive: Ateneu Popular 9 Barris. Portlligat Street, 11-15. Barcelona.

(Metro: Trinitat Nova - L3 and L4)

Organized by: The Landscape Observatory of Catalonia

Participating: Ateneu Popular 9 Barris

Morning

- 9:00-9:15 Registrations
- 9:15 Welcome and presentation of the seminar
- 9:30- 10:30 “Difesa del paisatge e lotte costituenti nel diritto moderno”
Ugo Mattei. Jurist and Professor at the University of Turin and at the University of California
- 10:30- 11:00 Debate
- 11:00-11:30 Break
- 11:30- 12:30 “Els relleus d’un món comú”
Marina Garcés. Philosopher and Associate Professor of Philosophy at the University of Zaragoza
- 12:30-13:00 Debate
- 13:00-13:30 Clara Nubiola. Reflections about the exhibition “Living la vida loca, o 150 casas que no te debes perder”, by the author.
- 13:30-15:00 Lunch break

Afternoon

- 15:00-16:00 “L’Era Ubuntu. La condició humana, entre el capitalisme i el bé comú”
Raül Romeva. Economist, Doctor in International Relations and analyst in diverse mass media
- 16:00-16:30 Debate
- 16:30-17:30 “Democratitzar el paisatge”
David Bravo. Architect, Publisher of publicspace.org and Secretary of the Jury of the European Prize for Urban Public Space of the CCCB
- 17:30-18:00 Debate
- 18:00-18:15 Break
- 18:15-19:15 “Reapropiacions i usos comuns dels espais públics a Nou Barris”
Round table with associations from the district. Organised by the Ateneu Popular 9 Barris
- 19:15 Closing speech

